

Do you have a job that's right for someone with autism?
If you're hiring, the answer is yes!

Workplace Inclusion Now™

Only 20% of people with disabilities, including those with autism, are employed, despite having the skillset and desire to work.

Workplace Inclusion Now (WIN) is Autism Speaks workforce development program for employers, job seekers and community members committed to promoting diversity in hiring and creating an inclusive workplace culture in which not just autistic adults, but all employees can thrive.

Consider Joanna, a line operator with autism who was unemployed for years because employers couldn't see past her disability. Thanks to WIN, Joanna is now thriving in a role at a container company that utilizes her unique skills. WIN exists to ensure that Joanna's story becomes the norm, not the exception.
